

Giselle Wynia is a Teaching Specialist at the University of Minnesota Program of Mortuary Science. She teaches embalming, restorative art, and human anatomy. Giselle is pursuing a Master's of Human Anatomy and Physiology Instruction to enhance her teaching pedagogy and understanding of the human body. She has been a licensed mortician for 11 years in the state of MN and her background includes a BA in Anthropology with an emphasis in forensic and biological anthropology.