

Steve Angell

Steve has been in the funeral industry for the past 10 years. After a 20-year teaching career in public schools, he decided it was time for a change, and attended Des Moines Area Community College to pursue his Advanced Standing Diploma in Mortuary Science.

On his first day of class, he told the department chair that his goal was to be an instructor in this program. Upon completion of the program, he worked at the largest funeral home in Iowa and his adventures eventually took him to the Chicago area for work. Steve returned to Iowa to be closer to family when his two granddaughters arrived.

Currently, Steve is an instructor at Des Moines Area Community College working alongside the department chair whom he told he would be teaching with someday. He is currently pursuing his Master's degree.

When he is not in the classroom teaching or learning, he enjoys almost any type of sports activity. He is a St. Louis Cardinals fan, and his bucket list includes visiting every major league ballpark.
